1. What are Special Educational Needs ?

i) Definition of Special Education Needs

The Code of Practice 2014 quotes the 1996 Education Act :

Children have special educational needs if they have a learning difficulty which calls for special provision to be made for them over and above the expected levels of differentiation within the class.

Children have a learning difficulty if they:

- a. Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of children of the same age; or
- b. Have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for children of the same age in schools within the areas of the local educational authority
- c. Are under compulsory school age and fall within the definition at (a) or (b) above or would so do if special educational provision was not made available for them.

Children must not be regarded as having a learning difficulty solely because the language or form of language of their home is different from the language in which they are taught.

(ii) Special educational provision means:

For children of two or over, educational provision which is additional to, or otherwise different from, the educational provision made generally for children of their age in schools maintained by the LEA, other than special schools, in the area.

PROCEDURES

3. Inclusion at St. Mary's

At St. Mary's we celebrate difference and diversity. We treat all children equally whether they are boys or girls and whatever their ethnic origin, culture, faith, or social group. All children are equal whatever their medical or physical needs. Children defined by law as having "special educational needs" are seen as children who need additional help and support to access the curriculum and reach their full potential.

We are committed to high achievement for all pupils and every pupil having the opportunity to maximize their potential. We focus on a pupils strengths and abilities. We recognize that pupils have diverse needs. The curriculum is differentiated and personalized to meet the needs of the majority of pupils. We respond to the pupils' diverse needs by creating an effective learning environment with appropriate learning objectives based on the assessment of each individual child and the aim of addressing potential areas of difficulty. Class teachers have a wide range of teaching strategies to include all pupils in the curriculum .They aim to respond to different learning styles, encourage motivation and concentration, provide equality of opportunity and to overcome barriers to learning .

Some pupils need educational provision which is additional or different . As well as those with special educational needs there are those who have additional needs. Such pupils include those who experience social deprivation, social, emotional and behavioural difficulties or those from other vulnerable groups

As far as possible we aim to include all pupils in the learning environment when specialist help is brought to them . Through high quality teaching and support they can experience high quality learning. In some circumstances, if the quality of learning and safety of others is compromised, it may be necessary to provide strategies to support a pupil with severe difficulties outside of the classroom.

Our facilities in school include wheelchair access throughout the building , plus a toilet and medical room fitted with a hoist.

See also our Inclusion Policy and Supportings Pupils with Medical Conditions Policy.

4. Admissions

At St. Mary's children with specific special educational needs are admitted if they meet our admissions criteria. If they have an Education Health Care Plan the LA will submit the application to the school for our consideration. Each applicant is viewed against the background of the learning needs of the peer group, the capacity of the teaching staff to cater for the needs of all individuals within the class, and the potential for extra help that could be provided by the school, the LA and other agencies.

See also our Admissions Policy.

5. IDENTIFICATION and ASSESSMENT.

Identifying pupils with SEND

Throughout the school, ongoing, whole school assessment and attainment tracking procedures, alert staff, as early as possible, to any pupil who is experiencing difficulty with their learning and may therefore have special educational needs. There is a continuum of need, to which we implement a graduated response.

In the Foundation Stage, practitioners work closely with parents to build on and provide opportunities for all pupils to develop in the seven areas of learning: communication and interaction, physical development, personal social and emotional development, literacy, maths, understanding of the world, expressive arts and design. The Practice Guidance for the Foundation Stage sets out what most children will have achieved by the end of the Foundation Stage from a planned approach to early education that integrates play and learning. The National Curriculum, for Years 1 to 6, sets out expectations for pupils achievement as they move through the school.

Assessing pupils with SEND.

Individuals progress at different rates, have different strengths and different areas of need. Where a pupil has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than their peers, or a disability that prevents or hinders them from making use of the facilities in the setting, special educational provision is made.

Our whole school assessment and tracking procedures include:

- pupil progress meetings
- school transfer records
- Practice Guidance for the Foundation Stage
- Early Years Foundation Stage Profile assessments and observations
- Early Years Outcomes Guidance
- progress against the P scales
- progress against the National Curriculum
- key word test using the words from the National Literacy Strategy – both reading and spelling
- observations
- initial and final intervention assessments
- running record using the Bench Mark Kit
- unaided writing sample
- initial sound names and phonemes if the child is in KS1/Y3
- ongoing formative teacher assessments and observations
- summative assessments eg SAT's

These assessments are supported by consultations with parents.

Information may also be gathered from previous settings and/or outside agencies, with parental agreement.

Parental concerns about a child's performance, academic or behavioural, should initially be raised with the class teacher, who may then involve the SENCo, and/or Learning Mentor.

Class teachers concerns, are raised with the SENCo, Learning Mentor and /or parents.

Information is gathered by the school in partnership with the parents.

Further assessments and observations are carried out and areas of need are identified:

- Communication and Interaction- difficulties with speech , language and communication which may impede the development of social relationships and cause substantial barriers to learning
- Cognition and Learning- not making the expected progress in specific areas over time even with appropriate differentiation.
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health - emotional or behavioural difficulties which substantially and regularly interfere with the child's own learning or that of the group despite a programme of monitoring and intervention
- Sensory and/or Physical Needs- requiring additional equipment, advice or direct intervention from a specialist.

Consideration is given to individual learning styles, the learning environment and classroom organization, the tasks set and the teaching style.

6.Provision for pupils with SEND.

Our School Offer demonstrates the types of additional and different targeted and specialist provision available in addition to the usual classroom differentiated provision, provided as part of the usual curriculum.

(See Appendix 2:St Mary's Bryanston Square School Offer or our school website)

Consideration of whether special educational provision is required starts with desired outcomes, including expected progress and attainment and the views and wishes of the pupils and their parents. This will help determine the support needed and whether it can be provided by adapting the school's core offer or whether something additional or different is needed.

Both the parents and the teacher are actively involved in working with the SENCO to devise an intervention or programme of support which should enable the pupil to make progress. This may include different teaching materials, a special program, different organization in the class, adult support, and/ or outside advice from professionals.

The SEND support will take the form of a four part cycle : assess, plan, implement and review. Specialists may be involved at any stage in the cycle.

The focus is on the impact of the provision and building upon strengths to enable the pupil to make the expected progress.

School staff collect observations and assessments to demonstrate the progress that has been made during an intervention.

Interventions are reviewed with pupils and parents.

The progress might :

- reduce the attainment gap between the pupil and peers
- prevent the attainment gap getting wider
- be similar to or greater than that of peers starting from the same baseline
- match or better a pupil's previous rate of progress
- ensure access to the full curriculum
- demonstrate an improvement in self help, social or personal skills
- demonstrate improvements in a pupil's behaviour

At the end of an intervention a decision will be made:

- to celebrate that the pupil has made satisfactory progress or better and therefore ceasing the provision
- to continue the provision with similar or different targets to enable satisfactory progress to be achieved
- with the evidence that progress is not satisfactory acknowledging that a different intervention or higher level of support needs to be considered

We use a RAG system(red, amber ,green) to asses the effectiveness of interventions

7.Monitoring and Assessment.

At St. Mary's we monitor the progress and attainment of all pupils on a daily and weekly basis, using both ongoing and summative systems. Termly Pupil Progress meetings are held for each class to review the progress and provision made for all pupils.

8.Record Keeping

SEND files are maintained by the SENCo and include details of meetings , reports , interventions.

Teachers keep an A-Z file for information that is specific to an individual, class assessments and tracking grids. These are passed on to the next class teacher at the end of each school year.

9.Allocation of SEND provision:

The budget for SEND is reviewed and allocated annually by our Governing Body working with the Head Teacher. The SENCO in consultation with the Head Teacher is responsible for the allocation of resources on a day to day basis to meet the aims and objectives of this policy. This includes the deployment of teaching assistants to work directly with pupils with SEND and the purchase of resources.

The SENCO works with class teachers to complete an audit of SEN needs and to map provision.

10.Education Health Care Plan (EHCP)

A very small number of pupils may have long term needs which require an Education Health Care Plan (EHC plan) to be drawn up between the pupil, parents, education , health and social services.

A pupil may be brought to the LA's attention by a request for an assessment from the parents, the school or an outside agency. This is a 20 week process which secures support for children and young people between 0 and 25 years of age. This support is reviewed annually.

(See page 130 in the SEN Code of Practice 2014).

For more information regarding EHC plans please speak to our SENCO.

Westminster are currently implementing a rolling program, over a three year period, to replace current Statements of Special Educational Needs with EHC plans.

11. Working with Pupils and Parents.

Our partnership with pupils and their parents plays a key role in promoting co-operation between families, our school, our Local Authority and other agencies. We actively seek the involvement and support of parents in planning for and meeting the needs of pupils with SEND. This partnership is important in enabling all children and young people, including those with SEND, to achieve their potential.

We recognize that:

- parents hold key information and have a critical role to play in their children's education.
- they have unique strengths, knowledge and experience to contribute to the shared view of their child's needs and the best ways of supporting them.
- the work of professionals can be more effective when parents are involved and account is taken of their wishes, feelings and perspectives on their children's development. It is therefore essential that all professionals, the school, local authority and other outside agencies, actively seek to work with pupils and parents and value the contribution that they make.
- all parents of children with special educational needs should be treated as partners. They should be supported so as to be able and empowered to:

- recognise and fulfil their responsibilities as parents and play an active and valued role in their children's education
- have knowledge of their child's entitlement within the SEND framework
- make their views known about how their child is educated
- have access to information, advice and support during assessment and any related decision-making processes about special educational provision.

Key principles in communicating and working in partnership with our parents include:

- positive attitudes to parents, user-friendly information and procedures and awareness of support needs are important
- there should be no presumption about what parents can or cannot do to support their children's learning
- all staff should bear in mind the pressures a parent may be under because of the child's needs

To make communications effective the school will:

- acknowledge and draw on parental knowledge and expertise in relation to their child
- focus on the children's strengths as well as areas of additional need
- recognise the personal and emotional investment of parents and be aware of their feelings
- ensure that parents understand procedures
- ensure that parents are aware of how to access support in preparing their contributions
- ensure that, as far as possible, parents are given documents to be discussed well before meetings
- respect the validity of differing perspectives and seek constructive ways of reconciling different viewpoints
- respect the differing needs parents themselves may have, such as a disability, or communication and linguistic barriers
- recognise the need for flexibility in the timing and structure of meetings.

Parental permission is always sought before making a referral for advice or support. Where parents do not wish to have their details passed on to third parties their wishes are respected.

Parents are welcome to make an appointment to meet a class teacher at any time during the school year. Parents Evenings are held at least twice a year for all parents to discuss their child's progress. Various 'information sharing' meetings are also held throughout the year. These are usually advertised in our weekly newsletter. Our SENCO Learning Mentor work together to provide support and information to parents. The local Authority has a duty to make parent partnership services known to parents and schools. This consists of information, advice and guidance to all parents of children with any type of SEND. Parents are able to attain information on their rights and roles within the SEND process. More Information can be found in Westminster's Local Offer.

Free, practical, confidential advice can be sought by parents and young people from:

12. Partnerships with Support Agencies.

The LA provides specialist support, assessment and advice for teachers, children and parents. The objective is to provide integrated, high quality and holistic support, focused on the needs of the pupil.

The school works closely with the following external support agencies :

- Speech and Language Service
- Educational Psychology Service
- Specialist Teacher Service-vision, hearing, Autistic Spectrum Disorder, occupational therapy
- Education Welfare Officer
- Health service - School Nurse, Child Development Centre, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service

(CAMHS)

- Social Services

These can be accessed through the SENCO or Learning Mentor by completing a Common Assessment Referral (CAF).

Even when there are outside specialists involved the SENCO has overall responsibility for the provision for the child.

13.Secondary Transfer.

At the start of Year 6 The Head Teacher will meet all parents to discuss and advise them regarding transfer to secondary school. Arrangements can be made for a member of staff to accompany SEND pupils on school visits. For pupils who have an EHCP specific arrangements are made with Westminster SEND Department, at The Year 5 Annual Review.

14. Complaints Procedure.

Concerns and complaints are better dealt with sooner than later.

Complaints should initially be addressed verbally to the class teacher.
